

Camels store water in their hump to help them survive in the desert.