

Tissue culture involves using small groups of cells from part of a plant.