

Diabetes is a disease in which a person cannot control their blood concentration.