

Which of these happens by active transport?