

Which scientist put forward this theory about evolution:
'If an organism uses one of its characteristics a lot during its lifetime, then it will pass this new characteristic onto its offspring.'