

The appearance of an organism is called its .....;
these are characteristics produced by its alleles.