

Small fragments of cells that allow blood to clot are called