

Which of these processes that moves substances into and out of cells requires energy?