

Which one of these factors is NOT caused by the increase in the human population?