

The structures shown on the diagram where respiration takes place are called ...

