

Fuels can be made from natural products by fermentation.