

The respiratory system defends our body against disease by ...