

Which substance is removed from the blood during the process shown below?

