

In brewing beer and wine-making, carbohydrates are used as an energy source for yeast to respire.