

The cell controls the passage of substances into and out of the cell.