

The alveoli provide a very large, moist surface, richly supplied with blood capillaries so that gases can readily diffuse into and out of the blood.