

The right ventricle of the heart has a thicker muscular wall than the left ventricle.