

A measure of the variety of living things in a particular area is known as ...