

A sample of water was found to contain high numbers of bloodworm. What can be concluded about the quality of the water?