

Chemicals called are used to kill plants that may compete with crops.